Methods

The Gypsy Tarot is a rich and complex system that offers numerous possibilities. Each method of reading has its own approach and purpose, providing specific insights into different aspects of life and the inner self. It is important to understand that there is no way to explain all the methods in a single text, as the diversity is vast and continues to evolve over time.

Wealth lies in your ability to adapt to different situations, issues, and individuals. Each person has a unique connection to the cards and a particular way of interpreting the symbols and messages conveyed. Therefore, it is critical to value individual experience when using it. As you practice and become familiar with the cards, you will develop your own language and intuition, creating a special bond with the deck.

In addition, evolution is an essential aspect of working with the cards. As you delve deeper into this practice, your knowledge expands, your intuition is strengthened, and your ability to interpret the cards improves.

It is through continuous experience and openness to new perspectives that you become a more skilled and confident tarot reader.

It is important to remember that methods are not a magic formula that reveals all the answers definitively, but rather an instrument of self-exploration and reflection, which provides insights, suggestions and directions. The cards are a mirror that reflects aspects of ourselves and the situations we face. It is up to us to interpret and apply these messages in our lives.

When using, be flexible and open to different print run methods. Try different approaches, like the ones mentioned earlier, and discover the ones you feel most comfortable and connected with. Allow yourself to explore and expand your practice, always respecting your own pace and intuition.

Remember that there is a personal and unique journey. Each reading is an opportunity to get to know yourself better, to gain clarity, and to find guidance. Individual experience and continuous evolution are key elements in deepening your connection and harnessing your full transformative potential.

Three Cards

Drawing three cards is one of the simplest and quickest ways to get answers to your questions. This print run is ideal for specific questions that require a clear and direct answer. Each card represents the past, present, and future, providing insights into the situation at hand.

Cross

Is one of the most popular and versatile method. In this method, the cards are arranged forming a cross, revealing information about the past, present obstacles, future influences, and the end result. It offers a comprehensive view of the situation and helps to understand the ways forward.

Horseshoe

Horseshoe method is more complex and provides insights into a particular subject or situation. The cards are placed in a horseshoe shape, offering information about the challenges, available resources, advice and possible solutions. This print run helps to understand the multiple facets of an issue.

The Celtic Cross

The drawing of the Celtic Cross is one of the most comprehensive and profound methods of the Gypsy Tarot. It offers a detailed insight into different aspects of life, such as love, work, health, and spirituality. This time requires time and reflection, but it is extremely enriching and revealing.

Star

The star is a creative method that uses the shape of a star to arrange the cards. Each point of the star represents a specific aspect, such as emotions, challenges, advice and results. This stimulates intuition and provides deep and inspiring insights.

Mandala

The mandala is a method that uses the circular arrangement of the cards, forming a mandala. Is especially useful for getting a holistic view of an issue or situation. Each position of the mandala represents a different aspect of life, allowing for a broader and more balanced understanding.

Inline

The in-line method is a simple and direct method, in which the cards are placed in a straight line. This offers a linear reading of the past, present, and future, revealing the progression and flow of events. It's an effective way to get a clear, chronological answer to your questions.

Fan

In this method, the cards are arranged in a fan shape, with the images facing down. The querent chooses one or more cards that appeal to him, and then they are revealed and interpreted. Is great for getting quick and timely insights into a specific issue.

Pyramid

Pyramid method is an interesting way to explore the deeper layers of a situation. The cards are arranged in a pyramid-shaped structure, starting with a card at the base and gradually increasing the number of cards in each layer. Each layer represents different aspects of the issue under analysis, offering a broader perspective.

Personal Year:

This method is ideal for gaining insight into the key themes and lessons you'll face in a specific year. It's made based on your birthday and uses a combination of cards that represents the challenges, opportunities, and lessons you'll find throughout the year. This helps guide your choices and make the most of the energies that will manifest in your life.

Seven Houses

This method is similar to astrology in that it associates each of the seven cards with a specific area of life, such as love, work, health, spirituality, family, finances, and personal fulfillment. Each card provides information about the current state and future influences in each area, helping to better understand your life as a whole.

Council of Elders

In this method, you select three cards that represents the advice and guidance of the Gypsy Tarot Elders. Each card carries a unique and powerful message to help you deal with challenges, make important decisions, or gain valuable perspectives on your spiritual journey.

(1) Rider represents the arrival of important news, messages or unexpected visits. It is a card that brings movement, action and change.

In the image of the card, we see a rider mounted on his horse, in full activity. He carries a card in his hand, symbolizing the arrival of a message. His armor and sword represents protection and courage to face challenges.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the arrival of someone important in your life or the need to act with courage in the face of a challenging situation. It can be an invitation to explore new opportunities, accept challenges, and move toward your goals.

However, the Rider can also represents a certain impulsiveness, the need to carefully evaluate their actions before making important decisions. It's important to remember that change brings both opportunities and risks, and it's up to us to decide how to address them.

The Rider brings the message that it is time to act, explore new possibilities and face challenges with courage and determination, but always assessing the consequences of our actions.

(2) Clover represents luck and surprise. It is a card that brings the idea of something unexpected happening in your life.

In the image of the card, we see three leaves of clover, which is a symbol of luck and prosperity. However, one of the leaves is cut off, representing the idea of something that may be missing in your life.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate a sudden change in your luck, something unexpected happening in your life, a lucky opportunity, or a pleasant surprise. However, it can also mean that something important is missing in your life and that it is necessary to look for it.

The Clover can also represent the idea that luck is an important factor in our lives, but that we must be prepared to deal with the surprises that arise along the way.

The Clover brings the message that luck may be on our side, but that it is important to be prepared to deal with the surprises that life presents us. In addition, it indicates the need to look for what is missing in our lives and to be open to the opportunities that arise.

(3) Ship represents the journey, the journey and the exploration. It is a card that brings the idea of movement and adventure.

In the image of the card, we see a ship sailing through the sea, indicating the idea of exploration and travel. The sails of the ship represents the idea of momentum and moving forward.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate a trip or an important change in your life. It can be an invitation to explore new horizons, move forward on a journey of self-discovery, or expand your horizons.

However, the Ship can also represents the idea that we must be prepared for the challenges that arise along the way. Travel can be stormy and uncertain, and it's important to be prepared to deal with the changes that arise.

The Ship carries the message that it is time to move forward on a journey of discovery and exploration, but that we must be prepared for the challenges that arise along the way. It also indicates the need to be open to new experiences and horizons.

(4) House represents safety, stability and protection. It is a card that brings the idea of home and family.

In the image of the card, we see a house with a red roof, representing protection and security. The windows and the open door indicate the idea of welcome and that we are being invited in.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the need to seek security and stability in our lives. It can be an invitation to create a home, a family, or a safe and welcoming environment. It can also indicate the need to connect with our roots, with our origin and our family history.

However, the House can also represent the idea that security and stability should not prevent us from seeking new experiences and adventures. It is important to find a balance between security and the search for new horizons.

In short, The House card carries the message that it is time to seek security and stability in our lives, create a welcoming home, and connect with our roots and family history. However, it also indicates the importance of finding a balance between safety and the search for new adventures.

(5) Tree represents stability, growth and connection with nature. It is a card that brings the idea of deep roots and constant growth.

In the image of the card, we see a robust tree with deep roots, representing stability and connection with the earth. The branches and leaves represent constant growth and the search for light and air.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the need to seek stability in our lives, cultivate our roots, and connect with nature. It can be an invitation to look at our origins and values and find our solid foundation.

However, the Tree can also represent the idea that growth is constant and that we must adapt to the changes that arise in our life. It is important to find a balance between stability and constant growth.

In short, The Tree card carries the message that it's time to seek stability in our lives, cultivate our roots, and connect with nature. It also indicates the importance of finding a balance between stability and constant growth, being open to change and adapting to circumstances.

(6) Clouds represents confusion, uncertainty, and lack of clarity. It is a card that brings the idea that something is obscuring our vision or preventing us from seeing clearly.

In the image of the card, we see two gray clouds that cover the sun, representing the lack of clarity and light. Clouds can indicate the presence of problems, difficulties, or challenges that are preventing us from moving forward.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the need to seek clarity and objectivity in our lives. It can be an invitation to face problems head-on and find practical solutions to overcome them.

However, Clouds can also represent the idea that not everything is as it seems and that the solutions may not be as simple as we think. It's important to be open to different perspectives and consider all options before making a decision.

In short, the card The Clouds brings the message that it is time to seek clarity and objectivity in our lives, face problems head-on and find practical solutions to overcome them. It also indicates the importance of being open to different perspectives and considering all options before making a decision.

(7) Snake represents betrayal, cunning and danger. It is a card that carries the idea that something may be hidden or camouflaged, and may pose a threat that is not easily visible.

In the image of the card, we see a coiled snake, ready to attack, representing cunning and aggressiveness. The snake can also symbolize betrayal or the presence of false people in our life.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the presence of someone or some situation that poses a danger or a threat. It can be an invitation to be more cautious and observe people and situations more closely.

However, the Snake can also represent the idea that we should be more attentive to our own actions and behaviors, and avoid acting in a cunning or manipulative way. It is important to be honest and authentic in our relationships and not to act in ways that are harmful to others.

In short, The Snake card carries the message that it's time to be more cautious and watch people and situations more closely. It also indicates the importance of avoiding acting in a shrewd or manipulative way and being honest and authentic in our relationships.

(8) Coffin represents death, the end of a cycle and transformation. It is a card that brings the idea that something is ending and that it is time to let go of what no longer serves in our lives.

In the image of the card, we see a closed coffin, representing the end of a cycle. It may seem scary at first glance, but it is important to remember that death represents not only the end, but also an opportunity for transformation and rebirth.

It may indicate that it is time to let go of what no longer serves in our lives and open ourselves to new possibilities. It can be an invitation to face change with courage and confidence, knowing that death is only a natural part of the cycle of life.

However, the Coffin can also represent the idea that we need to grieve for something we have lost or for a part of ourselves that is no longer part of our life. It is important to allow ourselves to feel the sadness and grief so that we can move forward with more lightness and clarity.

In short, The Coffin card carries the message that it's time to let go of what no longer serves in our lives and open ourselves up to new possibilities. It also indicates the importance of grieving for something we have lost and allowing ourselves to feel the sadness and grief so that we can move forward with more lightness and clarity.

(9) Bouquet represents beauty, gratitude, and harmony. It's a card that carries the idea that it's time to celebrate the good things in life and cultivate gratitude for the gifts we receive.

In the image of the card, we see a beautiful arrangement of flowers, representing beauty and harmony. Flowers can symbolize nature and life in its most beautiful and pure essence.

When this card appears in a reading, it can indicate a time of joy and celebration, an opportunity to enjoy the good things in life and cultivate gratitude for the gifts we have received. It can be an invitation to appreciate the beauty around us and connect with nature and the purest essence of life.

However, flowers can also represent the idea that we need to nurture and care for our relationships, just as we care for flowers in a garden. It is important to cultivate harmony and generosity in our relationships so that we can enjoy a fuller and more satisfying life.

In short, The Flowers card carries the message that it's time to celebrate the good things in life and cultivate gratitude for the gifts we receive. It also indicates the importance of nurturing and caring for our relationships, cultivating harmony and generosity.

(10) Scythe represents change, transformation and rupture. It is a card that brings the idea that it is time to cut with what is no longer serving, abandon the past and make way for the new.

In the image of the card, we see a sharp scythe, symbolizing the need to cut with the old ways of thinking, acting and being. The scythe can also represent the idea that we need to have the courage to face the changes and transformations that life brings us.

It may indicate that it's time to make an important choice or make a difficult decision. It can be a time to cut with a pattern of behavior that is no longer serving us, abandon a relationship or a situation that is impeding our personal growth.

However, the Scythe can also bring the idea that changes can be painful, but are necessary for our personal development and growth. We may feel insecure during this process, but it's important to remember that transformation brings with it new opportunities and possibilities.

The Scythe carries the message that it is time to cut with what is no longer serving, abandon the past and make way for the new. It also indicates the importance of having the courage to face changes and transformations.

(11) Whip is one of the most complex cards in the gypsy deck. It represents conflict, tension, disputes, and punishments. In the image of the card, we see a whip with several strings, which may indicate the idea that there are many aspects at play that are in conflict.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate that we are in a tense or conflictual situation, where emotions are at the forefront and communication can be difficult. It is important to remember that the Whip card can also represent a self-punishment, where we blame ourselves and charge ourselves excessively.

However, the Whip card can also bring up the idea that tension and conflict can be an opportunity for us to learn and grow. We can learn to communicate more clearly and assertively, resolve conflicts in a healthy and balanced way, and forgive ourselves for our mistakes.

The Whip carries the message that we are in a tense or conflictual situation, where emotions are at the forefront and communication can be difficult. It also indicates the importance of learning to communicate clearly and assertively, to resolve conflicts in a healthy and balanced way, and to forgive ourselves for our mistakes.

(12) Birds represents communication, connection, and freedom. It is a card that brings the idea that it is time to express our thoughts and feelings clearly and openly.

In the image of the card, we see two birds flying, symbolizing freedom and the ability to communicate. Birds can also represent the need to be in touch with others and to share our ideas and experiences.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the importance of communicating openly and honestly with others. It can be an invitation to express our thoughts and feelings, share our ideas, and listen carefully to what others have to say.

However, Birds can also represent the need to balance communication with active listening. It is important to remember that communication involves not only speaking, but also listening to and understanding what others are communicating.

In short, The Birds card carries the message that it's time to express our thoughts and feelings clearly and openly, sharing our ideas and listening carefully to what others have to say.

(13) Child is one of the most positive and auspicious cards in the gypsy deck. It represents innocence, purity, spontaneity and renewal. It is a card that brings the idea of new beginnings and a fresh look at life.

In the image of the card, we see a cheerful and curious child, representing young energy and the ability to marvel at the simple things in life. The child symbolizes openness to new experiences, the freedom to be authentic, and confidence in oneself.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate that we are entering a period of renewal and new opportunities. It is a time to connect with our inner child, rediscover the joy and lightness it brings, and embrace the possibilities that present themselves.

However, the Child can also remind us of the importance of acting responsibly and cautiously. While innocence and spontaneity are valuable, it is essential to balance them with the wisdom and discernment needed to make appropriate decisions.

In short, the Child card carries the message that we are entering a period of renewal and new opportunities. It also indicates the importance of connecting with our inner child, rediscovering the joy and lightness that is, and embracing the possibilities.

(14) Fox represents cunning, intelligence, and the ability to adapt to circumstances. It is a card that carries the idea that we should be aware of hidden intentions and avoid being deceived.

In the image of the card, we see a cunning and observant fox, symbolizing the ability to perceive and adapt to situations. The fox can also represent the need to act with cleverness and caution in the face of challenges or negotiations.

When this card appears in a reading, it may indicate the presence of deceptive people or situations in our path. It warns us to be careful and not to blindly trust everything that is presented to us. It's important to trust our intuition and be aware of the potential pitfalls around us.

However, the Fox can also remind us of the importance of using our intelligence and skills to deal with challenges and find creative solutions. It encourages us to think strategically and to look for alternatives when we encounter obstacles.

In short, the Fox card carries the message that we must be attentive to hidden intentions and avoid being deceived. It also indicates the importance of using our intelligence and skills to deal with challenges and find creative solutions.
